

PRAYER FOR TODAY

By Milton A Lites

I heard your voice today Lord,
but it seems so far away
It was hard to understand Lord.
It seemed so faint today.

Was I in the wrong place, Lord?
Is that why your voice sounded weak?
Or was I listening to the wrong sounds
Too intently to hear your voice speak?

The burden seemed heavy today, Lord
I almost stumbled and fell.
And it seemed like nobody cared, Lord
I was hurting, but who could I tell?

I remember the comfort your voice brings
On days when I hear it so clear.
It comes as of old with this warning,
"Whoever has ears let him hear."

Then I hear and understand clearly
And I'm not alone anymore.
Because I know you're with me
To help, to heal and restore.

Lord, help me always to listen
With a ready and eager ear.
O speak to my heart dearest Savior.
Speak words that I need to hear.

Keep me in the right way, Lord
Don't let me wander astray,
I open my heart to your truth, Lord
Let me hear your message today
